SUMMARY

I am at the leading edge of research in the field of treatment effect estimation and policy evaluation, with my methodological innovations raising the bar for international standards in experimental research and an applied focus on empirical evidence relevant to policymakers. I am passionate about delivering academically rigorous and inspiring courses in applied economics and econometrics, enriched by world-class research, experimental methods and practical applications, while fostering academic integrity and critical thinking in an inclusive learning environment. I have a strong track record of university leadership and service, and I am actively contributing to the leadership role of the ANU in the Asia-Pacific region and its impact as a public policy driver.

TOP 6 PUBLICATIONS (in reverse chronological order)

1. Sinning, Mathias and Zhang, Yinjunjie. 2023. Traffic and Parking Fine Collection: Are Social Norms More Effective Than Enforcement? Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization 210, 43–60. (IF = 2.2; ABDC journal rating = A*; citations = 4; link)

This paper evaluates local government fine collection strategies. A field experiment with the ACT Government shows both deterrence and social norms letters enhance payments, with deterrence being more effective overall. This recent paper has been cited 4 times, including in Journal of Policy Analysis and Management (IF = 3.8; ABDC journal rating = A) and Psychology, Crime & Law (IF = 1.4). The results were summarised in a non-technical report to the ACT

Government. The results were also presented at the 2021 Meetings of the Asian and Australasian Society of Labour Economics (AASLE) in Beijing/China (virtual).

2. Gillitzer, Christian and Sinning, Mathias. 2020. Nudging Businesses to Pay Their Taxes: Does Timing Matter? Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization 169, 284–300. (IF = 2.2; ABDC journal rating = A*; citations = 43; link; media; blog coverage)

This paper examines the impact of the timing of ATO reminders on taxpayers' payment behaviour. While reminders increase payments, varying the timing does not affect the ultimate probability of payment. The paper has been cited 43 times, including in Behavioural Public Policy (IF = 5.1), Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization (IF = 2.2; ABDC journal rating = A*), Journal of Behavioral and Experimental Economics (IF = 1.6; ABDC journal rating = A), Regulation & Governance (IF = 3.0; ABDC journal rating = A) and a book on the administrative foundations of the Chinese fiscal state. The results were summarised in a non-technical report to the ATO. The findings were also presented at the 2019 Congress of the International Institute of Public Finance (IIPF) in Glasgow/UK, the 2018 Meetings of the Asian and Australasian Society of Labour Economics (AASLE) in Seoul/South Korea, the 2018 Conference of the Association for Public Policy Analysis and Management (APPAM) in Washington, DC/USA, a seminar at the La Follette School of Public Affairs at the University of Madison-Wisconsin in Madison, WI/USA and a seminar at the University of International Business and Economics (UIBE) in Beijing/China.

3. Haisken-DeNew, John, Hasan, Syed, Jha, Nikhil, and Sinning, Mathias. 2018. Unawareness and Selective Disclosure: The Effect of School Quality Information on Property Prices, Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization 145, 449–464. (IF = 2.2; ABDC journal rating = A*; citations = 26; link; media)

This paper demonstrates that the Australian government's MySchool website's dissemination of school quality information increased property prices by 3.6%. Real estate agents strategically leverage this information to increase sales prices. The paper has been cited 26 times, including in China Economic Review (IF = 6.8; ABDC journal rating = A), Cities (IF = 6.7), Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization (IF = 2.2; ABDC journal rating = A*), Journal of Regional Science (IF = 3.0; ABDC journal rating = A), Journal of Housing Economics (IF = 2.4; ABDC journal rating = A), Journal of Urban Management (IF = 6.1), Journal of Real Estate Finance and Economics (IF = 1.9; ABDC journal rating = A), Land Use Policy (IF = 7.1; ABDC journal rating = A), Real Estate Economics (IF = 2.2; ABDC journal rating = A), Regional Science and Urban Economics (IF = 3.1; ABDC journal rating = A) and Urban Studies (IF = 4.7; ABDC journal rating = A*). The findings were presented at the 2016 Australian Conference of the Economists (ACE) in Adelaide and a seminar at IZA Institute for the Study of Labor in Bonn/Germany.

4. Cobb-Clark, Deborah, Kassenboehmer, Sonja and Sinning, Mathias. 2016. Locus of Control and Savings, Journal of Banking and Finance 73, 113–130. (IF = 3.7; ABDC journal rating = A*; citations = 338; link)

This paper establishes the fundamental connection between locus of control and savings, revealing that those with an internal locus of control tend to save more, particularly among the wealthy. The paper has been cited 338 times, including in Economic Journal (IF = 3.2; ABDC journal rating = A*), Energy Economics (IF = 12.8; ABDC journal rating = A*), European Economic Review (IF = 2.8; ABDC journal rating = A*), Health Economics (IF = 2.1; ABDC journal rating = A*), Journal of Banking and Finance (IF = 3.7; ABDC journal rating = A*), Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization (IF = 2.2; ABDC journal rating = A*) and Journal of Human Resources (IF = 5.2; ABDC journal rating = A*).

5. Sinning, Mathias. 2010. Homeownership and Economic Performance of Immigrants in Germany, Urban Studies 47, 387–409. (IF = 4.7; ABDC journal rating = A*; citations = 100; link)

This paper studies the homeownership gap between native and immigrant households in Germany and shows that a long-term economic integration of immigrants has not taken place. The paper has been cited 100 times, including in Cities (IF = 6.7), Demography (IF = 3.5; ABDC journal rating = A*), Economic Inquiry (IF = 1.8; ABDC journal rating = A), Journal of Housing Economics (IF = 2.4; ABDC journal rating = A), Journal of Economic Geography (IF = 2.9; ABDC journal rating = A), Journal of Population Economics (IF = 6.1; ABDC journal rating = A), Labour Economics (IF = 2.4; ABDC journal rating = A), Real Estate Economics (IF = 2.2; ABDC journal rating = A), Review of Income and Wealth (IF = 2.0; ABDC journal rating = A), Urban Studies (IF = 4.7; ABDC journal rating = A*), a book on Internal Migration in Europe and a book on Immigration and the City. Findings have been presented at the 2006 Meetings of the European Economic Association (EEA) in Vienna/Austria, the 2006 Meetings of the European Society for Population Economics (ESPE) in Verona/Italy and the 2006 Conference on the Economics of Immigration of the Centre for Research and Analysis of Migration at UCL in London/UK.

6. Bauer, Thomas, Goehlmann, Silja and Sinning, Mathias. 2007. Gender Differences in Smoking Behavior, Health Economics 16, 895–909. (IF = 2.1; ABDC journal rating = A*; citations = 197; link)

This paper a new decomposition method to analyse gender differences in smoking behaviour. The results indicate that anti-smoking campaigns may have different effects on men and women. This paper has been cited 198 times, including in Journal of Health Economics (IF = 3.5; ABDC journal rating = A*), Journal of Econometrics (IF = 6.3; ABDC journal rating = A*), Health Economics (IF = 2.1; ABDC journal rating = A*), Oxford Bulletin of Economics and Statistics (IF = 2.5; ABDC journal rating = A), Social Science and Medicine (IF = 5.4) and the Elsevier Handbook of Labor Economics. The findings were presented at the 2006 SOEP User Conference in Berlin/Germany, where I received the best presentation prize.

EDUCATION

TOP 2 EDUCATION ACHIEVEMENTS

1. Outputs and impacts of education-related collaborations

My achievements in education showcase a remarkable blend of outputs and impacts resulting from my collaborative efforts. As Chief Investigator of the ARC Linkage Project "Innovative Financing Mechanisms for Higher Education" (2011-2015), I have significantly influenced the landscape of higher education policy in Australia and internationally. My work on higher education policy design includes the development of a dynamic model for student loan repayments in Australia, which has been referred to by a submission to the Review of Australia's Higher Education System and by policy papers on student loan design in Australia, Brazil, China, Indonesia, Japan and Vietnam. In collaboration with Emeritus Professor Bruce Chapman, the architect of Australia's Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS), I established conditions for the design of income contingent student loans in Germany (link). In 2015, I developed a comprehensive reform proposal for higher education financing in Germany together with Christoph M. Schmidt, the top economic advisor to Angela Merkel. I have been involved in the organisation of major events, alongside esteemed scholars including three Nobel Laureates, underscoring leadership and impact within the academic community. My efforts to establish a global network of student loan scholars further reinforce my dedication to facilitating impactful research and dialogue in the field. These outputs and impacts reflect my commitment to advancing knowledge and driving meaningful change in higher education policy and practice.

2. Effective service for government education authorities

I have worked extensively with Federal education bodies to ensure education policy decisions are informed by scientific evidence. I have impacted understanding and policy development in several key areas through a series of commissioned reports (see research section). My efforts have highlighted significant disparities in lifetime earnings between men and women with equivalent educational qualifications. This insight has been instrumental in fostering policy discussions aimed at reducing gender-based economic inequalities and promoting policies that support equal economic opportunities. My work also guided discussions aimed at enhancing literacy standards and promoting lifelong learning initiatives. Moreover, it informed strategies for workforce integration and skill recognition, contributing to more inclusive labour market policies. Finally, my work influenced policy discourse focused on improving job-skill matching, supporting career transitions and promoting continuous learning over the life cycle. The education policy-relevant evidence I produced was disseminated through presentations at Federal education bodies, including the Department of Education, Skills and Employment and the National Centre for Vocational Education Research.

- Reviewing and updating guidelines in consultation with the CAP Research Committee.

Member of the CAP Local Promotions Committee, 2023 – Present

- I review applications for promotion to Level C and D within CAP and participate in promotion interviews.

Chair of the Selection Committee for the CIW Chinese Studies grants round, 2023 – Present

- I chair meetings of the Selection Committee, provide assessments and approve the selection of candidates.

Member of the CAP Conversion Committee, 2023 – Present

- I review and approve conversion requests of academics in accordance with the established procedure within CAP.

Acting Associate Dean HDR, 2023

- I oversaw the management of the College's HDR portfolio and its governance.
- I served as the CAP representative on the HDR Committee, where I provided valuable input into the allocation of domestic HDR scholarships.

Leadership of CAP strategic initiatives in relation to the ANU Digital Master Plan (link), 2023 – Present

- I led the development of the CAP Research Office SharePoint, designed to meet the research management needs of CAP academics by providing comprehensive information and resources.
- I have spearheaded the creation of a standardised College-wide Expression of Interest (EOI) questionnaire to gather information about new grant applications, both internally led and externally led.
- I have supervised a CAP IT project to develop an Impact Collection App, enabling CAP academics to monitor their impact in real-time. Following an initial testing phase within CAP, a wider rollout across ANU is possible.
- I led an initiative to create calendar invites for CAP academics, enabling them to keep track of internal and external deadlines for both ARC and non-ARC funding rounds. These invites, integrated into MS Outlook calendars via a single link, enhance efficiency in time management and planning.

CROSS-COLLEGE LEADERSHIP AND SERVICE

Director (Asia and the Pacific), ANU Policy Experiments Lab

- I spearheaded the establishment of the ANU Policy Experiments Lab (PELab) as a CAP-CASS collaboration.
- PELab works closely with policymakers and service providers to co-design and evaluate programs and policies, with a focus on enhancing the well-being of Australian and Asia-Pacific communities.
- Serving as a hub for securing external research funding, PELab offers services such as trial design, implementation and evaluation, executive education and consulting.

UNIVERSITY LEADERSHIP AND SERVICE

Dean's Representative on the University Research Committee, 2023 – Present

- I have made important contributions to enhancing policies and procedures to increase efficiency and incentivise high quality research outcomes.
- My contributions have been instrumental in shaping discussions on university priorities and strategies.

Dean's Representative on the University Research Infrastructure Committee, 2023 – Present

- I have contributed to discussions about research infrastructure initiatives and the ANU Research Infrastructure Decadal Plan.
- I coordinated CAP contributions to the Research Infrastructure Expo in 2023.
- I coordinated the review of the CAP research infrastructure stocktake in 2024.

Leadership of University-level strategic initiatives:

- I analysed ANU-wide data to develop strategies to recover indirect costs of research and consultancies.
- I initiated the design and oversaw the delivery of ARC Linkage Training sessions for ANU academics, in collaboration with Business Development Managers from CAP and the College of Science.
